ERS 4-Star Collection Delivers When it Counts

Eventing demands boldness, stamina and accuracy. There's a lot to focus on, and any distraction is a potential wipeout. So it goes without saying that eventers need to have full confidence in their gear, from what they wear to what they sit in. It needs to be solid, without gimmicks; affordable, without being weak; long-lasting without sacrificing function and style. Finding products that deliver, products that are tough yet still beautiful, that offer solutions rather than create more questions, and most importantly products that won't break the bank, is a common challenge for every eventer.

We recognize these needs as being as extraordinarily diverse and demanding as eventing is itself, and that's why we've created the 4-Star Collection. We're particular about what we bring you in this collection - each piece must have a 'reason for being' in the eventing world or it gets spun from the lineup. Our approach towards product design demonstrates a bias for strength, grace, beauty and affordability. The product found within these pages is a cut above the usual pack. It enhances your ride and allows you to focus, to enjoy this amazing sport. It's product you can count on and afford to invest in; product that will meet and exceed your demands as an eventer.

So who exactly are we? English Riding Supply (ERS) is the importer and wholesale distributor of more than 25 of the World's top brands of English riding products. We're a young, energetic company born out of an alliance between world-class riders and craftsman. As a business, our values reflect the commitment, elegance and class by which these amazing people live, work and compete. We're a company with experience. Our team has been developing and bringing to market some of the world's best brands for decades: Pessoa, Mountain Horse, Ovation, Veredus and Happy Mouth to name a few. The highly skilled craftsman behind these brands cut their teeth on saddle and strap design with the guidance of some of the best horseman in history: Blythe Tait, Rodrigo and Nelson Pessoa, Anky Van Grunsven. The list goes on. And above all, we're a company that has fun and seriously enjoys what we do. The results of this collaboration are truly amazing, so start flipping pages and have a look for yourself.

Meet our ERS Eventing Ambassadors

JOHN WILLIAMS

John has been on the cutting edge of eventing for two decades. With Olympic bronze and World Game gold medals, not to mention his FEI "I" and USEF "R" course designer status, John's no slacker. What's the one thing John's most proud of? That would be having found all of his horses as young, raw talent, and with the help of only his wife Ellen, establishing them through the top levels of eventing. John studied woodworking and furniture design at the Rochester Institute of Technology, so naturally when he's not competing or designing courses, John's favorite thing to do is design and build things. That's why he meshes with the ERS philosophy so well—he's our "go to" guy for product critiques, and if there's a way to tinker with an already good design and make it better, John's on it!

TIANA COUDRAY

A go-getter by anyone's standards, at the young age of 19 Tiana's on her second competitive career! Bursting onto the eventing scene just a few short years ago, she already has a '04 NAYRC silver medal, and '05 and '07 USEA Young Rider of the Year awards under her belt. But Tiana was a seasoned World competitor prior to her eventing successes, just not in equestrian sports! Up until she was 15, Tiana spent 10 years as a serious Irish Dancer, training and competing internationally with a career high of finishing 8th in the world. But even with all that success so early in life, this young, enthusiastic competitor somehow manages to stay down to earth and keep things in perspective. That same enthusiasm and down to earth attitude is what makes Tiana such an asset to our team.

BONNIE MOSSER

Determined, talented, and tough as nails when conditions warrant. That's how we'd describe Bonnie. A former member of the U.S. Ski Team, she's been an accomplished competitor her whole adult life. But don't let all that seriousness fool you! She's also spunky, and likes to walk on the wild side - just a bit. Her favorite line, "That's horses...," sort of sums up her go-with-the-flow attitude. For Bonnie, having fun is critical, just ask the crew that travels with her. Bonnie's stabling area at shows is usually a pretty laid back place to be, and photo shoots with her are typically a blast - you never know what antics she'll come up with next! That's why we love having her as part of our team. Her spirited approach to life and sport fits perfectly with the energy of our 4-Star Collection.

BECKY HOLDER

When asked where she gets her courage to face such huge questions on cross country, Becky tells us, "I have tremendous faith in the partnership I've developed with my horses, and that trust gives me great courage." Her dedication to partnerships is a big reason we love working with Becky. Even though she has a grueling schedule between teaching and training, she always finds time to work with our products and give us critical feedback - the good, the really good, the bad and the ugly. Hailing from Minnesota, Becky admits she spends "way too many hours to count" on the road. So what's the one thing she never leaves home without? That would be Scrappy Doo, her faithful canine companion. "Scrappy is a very important member of the Holder event team," laughs Becky. "He acts as a great co-pilot on the many long hauls back and forth from Minnesota. I don't leave home without him!"

CORINNE ASHTON

Corinne's feisty spirit and unending energy are essential elements for her hectic lifestyle. How else do you juggle riding, traveling, competing, working full time, being a mom to two kids, and being the 2007 Leading Adult Amateur? Whew - it makes us tired just writing it! One of our newest ambassadors, Corinne's years of experience and no-nonsense, realistic approach to her riding products is sure to be a bonus for our R&D team. Growing up on the back of a horse in Scotland, Corinne says she can't remember a time when she didn't ride, and in 2007 she and her illustrious partner Dobbin established themselves as a duo to be reckoned with. Named by her 'un-horsey' husband, in Britain Dobbin is a generic term for an old, slow carthorse. Thankfully he's not lived up to his name, recently becoming the '07 Advanced Eventing Champion and one of the USEA's top 10 horses of the year!

OVATION Gear that Means Business

Ovation Four Star gear embodies all the elements of out-and-out professional tack. Craftsmen may know how to sew a gorgeous bridle or assemble a world class saddle, but the experience gained from years on the course can only come from those who have been there and done it. Therefore, no saddle or bridle design goes to our workrooms without first passing the test of Ovation's experienced team of event riders. Each step of the way, their guidance keeps us focused on providing the best—gear that's solid, functional and durable without sacrificing beauty. Gear that will rise to the challenge. And all at a price you just can't beat. So feel confident that when you finally make it to your big goal, your 4-Star gear will be there for you the entire way.

John on the Four-Star Event Saddle "When the Ovation team asked me to help redesign this saddle, my big demand was that it needed to provide eventers with a really secure seat and superb balance. It had to go from training level to 4-star challenges. I'm not disappointed. I tweaked the design by adding larger, anatomically shaped, repositionable knee blocks so you can place them where they're most comfortable, and a slightly deeper seat for added security. This is my saddle of choice."

We insist on the more time-consuming, expensive oak bark tanning process which gives our Ovation™ English made leather the strength, flexibility and long-lasting durability that eventing demands. "I always love how amazing the leather on my Four-Star Bridle becomes once I get it all oiled up." raves Tiana. Most everyone in the dressage world knows five time Olympic Team-Gold Medal Dressage Champion, the late Dr. Reiner Klimke. What most people do not know is that he got his start in eventing, winning the Vice-European Team-Championship in '57, the European Team-Championship in '59, and competing in the Rome Olympic Games in '60, all before moving into dressage. His dressage saddle was designed to provide a proper foundation and balance for the developing rider at a price that would encourage interest and involvement in dressage riding. The Klimke II Pro Dressage Saddle has proven its merit since 1986 when it was first introduced to the dressage community. Today we are pleased to bring this saddle back to its roots by presenting it to eventers. The saddle fits a wide variety of horses with no adjustments or fittings needed, and the tree has a lifetime warranty, as befits a saddle of this quality.

★★★★★ ers4star.com ★★★★★

"If your horse says no, you either asked the wrong question, or asked the question wrong." Dr. Reiner Klimke

Reiner Klimke

John on Dressage saddles "A good foundation is imperative for all dressage riders to excel, especially when you're just starting out, and it can be difficult to find that in a saddle with an affordable price. Without this, your progress will be hindered. Klimke knew this, and it's strongly reflected in his design and his price point."

Pessoa

How a Show Jumper Changed

Up until 20 years ago cross country saddles were deeply seated with a high cantle that tended to keep you in place and catch you behind over big obstacles. But all that changed in 1987 when, on the way to a major competition, Blyth Tait lost his cross country saddles, courtesy of the airlines. Now in a major bind, he was forced to use his Pessoa show jumping saddle for cross country. Blyth took the championship at that event, and credited his win to the newly found balance and contact of the Pessoa designed saddle, calling it his savior.

At that point, an alliance was born between Nelson and Blyth. Their collaboration produced the Pessoa Blyth Tait saddle, and ushered in a new era of saddle design for eventers. Since that time, cross country riders have found that the Pessoa design provides a newfound freedom in the saddle, allowing more balance and movement without sacrificing security. Pessoa's new Legacy Event is the most modern culmination of this extraordinary Pessoa eventing experience.

ANKY's Got Everyone Talking!

Practically overnight, the Anky saddle became the dressage saddle of choice with our event riders. Right from the git-go, everyone seemed to bond with this saddle. We put it in their hands, they rode in it, and that was that - they were off to compete with it. The word spread and, next thing we knew, their students and other riders from their barns were wanting to know, "how do we get an Anky?" How cool is that!

So why's it such a great ride? "I loved this saddle from day one," Bonnie Mosser explains. "Anky's undisputed experience definitely shows in its design. It's not bulky, gives you extremely close contact, and its seat's very supportive without being restrictive. This design really enhances your aids, and allows you to be comfortable yet still effective. That's a win-win in my book." Tiana Coudray couldn't agree more, and says she recommends it to all her students. "I kid you not, every single person in our barn that has ridden in one has gone out and bought it," she tells us.

We think that speaks volumes!

Mountain Horse SCS3 Boots— A Must-Have for Eventers

Our ERS riders all agree on one thing — the Mountain Horse SCS3 boots are a must-have! With outstanding comfort, an off-the-shelf fit that rivals customs, and unsurpassed stability in the irons thanks to the Stirrup Control System (SCS3), these boots just can't be beat. Need more to be a believer? Just ask Canadian Kyle Carter, member of the 2007 Pan Am Games Silver Medal Eventing Team. Kyle credits his SCS3's with keeping him in the tack at an amazingly dicey cross country fence during the '07 games, which helped put him in 4th position after cross country. Now they're his boots of choice. "I liked the boots right from the start when I bought them," he says. "But they really proved their worth at that fence. After that, not only am I a total believer in the SCS3 System, but anyone who was watching my ride that day should be as well!"

Tiana on SCS3 boots Having been a dancer, it's always difficult getting tall boots that fit my calf well. Then I found the Mountain Horse High Rider Field and Dress boots. Right off the shelf they fit like they were custom made. Plus the foot bed is super comfortable. Mountain Horse has really nailed both the comfort and the look—these boots couldn't be nicer."

Small Stuff, Big Performance

More Gripping Power, Less Hand Fatigue

For some time now these gloves have been a great seller in Europe, so we decided it was time we brought them to the U.S. riding market. The unique, breathable characteristics of MacWet's AquaTec material allows it to maintain maximum grip and feel in all conditions, no matter how wet or humid - even through water jumps and mud spray! British eventer, Polly Stockton is adamant about them. "The only glove to use. A revolutionary glove for all Event Riders, MacWet gloves allow total control of the reins in all conditions providing maximum grip and no slip." That's good enough for us!

Happy Mouth Revolver Bits

We sent these bits out to our riders to see if they really worked as well as we thought they did. The feedback we got was great. Bonnie told us that they made two of her horses "go better than ever"; and John reported back that he found them especially good on horses who tend to have trouble accepting bits. Tiana noticed that she could definitely get a lift on one side or the other, really feeling the revolver action. So how do they work? The smooth revolving center link enables the two sides of the bit to rotate independently of each other in a smooth movement, giving you total control and independent action – and a happy horse.

Gentle Control, New Twist

Composite Reflex Wide Track Stirrup Irons

Made of one of the toughest hi-tech polymers produced by DuPont®, these irons relieve tension on your knees and ankles thanks to integrated 3D swivel action treads that are positioned on a shock-absorbent layer. Tiana tested these for us with really positive results. "I absolutely love the REFLEX iron for its angled, springy tread. I think that design achieves and surpasses everything the jointed stirrups are going for, without all the problems. With the jointed ones, there is no stability under your foot because the whole base moves freely. The reflex has some give to it, but it's limited to the tread, so the base stays firm under your foot. And it has a nice weight to it."

Veredus™ Nero Line Jumping Boots

Mike Winters tried his first pair of Veredus boots at training camp prior to the Pan Am Games. He liked them so well, that a week and a half later he took them to the games and competed in them, and loaned a pair to fellow team member, Kyle Carter. "The quality and efficiency of these boots really sets them apart from the others," explains Mike. "When you're riding six or seven horses a day, every day, you need a boot that fits well with no slippage, is safe, and one that's really easy to clean and use. Veredus boots live up to every single one of those expectations, and they look great too." A Carbon strike plate, which provides absolute protection for the suspensory tendon, is combined with a Dual Density Shell for complete protection. Combined with a gel pad that reduces the transmission of shocks and impacts by 40%, and a no-slip, anatomical design, and these boots are a necessity for every show jumping phase.
